

Figure S1. Fe K-edge x-ray absorption spectra showing the differences between oxidized (red) and reduced (blue) Pdx solutions. (A) Normalized x-ray absorption spectra. (B) The difference spectrum between the spectra in A. The dashed line at 7117.1 eV indicates the position where edge intensity was measured as a probe of photoreduction.