SPOTLIGHT ON HEALTH GRANTMAKING IN GEORGIA

The Foundation Center's mission is to strengthen the nonprofit sector by advancing knowledge about U.S. philanthropy. We hope that this brief exploration of top health funders and their giving patterns will provide insights into the state of health grantmaking in Georgia.

This report includes statistical charts and tables based on the Center's annual grants sample, a mini-directory of Georgia-based health funders, and a statistical snapshot of Georgia's health rankings produced by the Healthcare Georgia Foundation.

GEORGIA GRANTS SAMPLE

Each year the Foundation Center indexes all of the grants of $10,000 and more awarded by close to 1,200 of the nation's largest private and community foundations. Our most recent (2005) sample includes nearly 131,000 grants awarded by 1,154 U.S. foundations totaling $16.4 billion. Of the 1,172 foundations in the sample, this report analyzes health grants made to Georgia recipients by 108 foundations, 19 that are based in Georgia and 89 that are based outside Georgia, totaling $88 million.

PRIMARY PURPOSE

Funding for general and rehabilitative health—which includes support for hospitals and in-patient care, outpatient clinics and care, public health, reproductive health, and health care financing and policy, among other purposes—accounted for nearly 72% of all Georgia giving for health in 2005. Within that category, more than half targeted public health. Georgia-based foundations were far more likely to support care and treatment of mental health than were non-Georgia foundations; in terms of support for medical research, the opposite was true.

TARGET POPULATION

Among specified population groups, children and youth and people with disabilities benefitted from the most Georgia-focused grant dollars, 18.2 % and 17.5% respectively. Women and girls were at the other end of the spectrum, specifically benefiting from 3.2% of total grant dollars for health in Georgia. Economically disadvantaged and minority populations were in the middle, each benefiting from just over 8% of total grant dollars.

A target population could be identified for 44% of all grant dollars. Chart includes selected beneficiary groups representing at least 3 percent of all grant dollars. Figures represent only grants awarded to groups that could be identified as serving specific populations or grants whose descriptions specified a benefit for a specific population. These figures do not represent all giving benefiting these groups. In addition, grants may benefit multiple population groups, e.g., a grant for minority women, and would therefore be counted more than once.

A MINI-DIRECTORY OF GEORGIA FOUNDATIONS FUNDING HEALTH PROGRAMS

The following private and community foundations were identified in the Foundation Center's 2005 grants sample as awarding the greatest number of health grant dollars to Georgia recipients. For most of the funders in this directory, health is just one among many areas of interest for their grantmaking. The descriptions provided here attempt to capture just their health interests but should not be taken as an indication that they devote their grantmaking exclusively to health.
