Bibliography

Campenella, Richard. “Urban Transformation in the Lower Ninth Ward.” In Architecture in times of need: Make it Right, rebuilding the New Orleans' Lower Ninth Ward, edited by Kristin Feireiss. Munich: Prestel, 2009.

“Color bar cracked in Orleans schools.” The Augusta Chronicle, Nov. 15, 1960.

Dabney, Thomas Ewing. “The Industrial Canal and Inner Harbor of New Orleans,” Board of Commissioners of the Port of New Orleans, 1921.

Dabney, Virginius. “What’s Happened to Old New Orleans?” Saturday Evening Post 226, no. 15, Oct. 10, 1953.

Graves, Jerry V. “Risk, Vulnerability, and Hazards: The Industrial Canal and the Lower Ninth Ward.” PhD diss., University of New Orleans, 2012.

Kaufman, B. (1973). “New Orleans and the Panama Canal, 1900-1914.” The Journal of the Louisiana Historical Association. Vol. 14 (4), pp. 333-346.

“Lock construction success is assured.” Times-Picayune, March 28, 1920.

“New Orleans no city of joy after Betsy.” The Seattle Daily Times, Sept. 10, 1965.

“New Orleans shipping.” Wall Street Journal, Aug. 13, 1929.

“Slow music isn’t for New Orleans.” Detroit Free Press, Feb. 19, 1911.

Spillane, Richard. “New Orleans now looking to great revival in trade.” The Washington Post, Oct. 24, 1921.

“What New Orleans port facilities mean to this city and all southern states.” Times-Picayune, July 25, 1915.