THINKS REPORTS ARE EXAGGERATED

Haitien Minister Not Apprehensive of Revolutionary Outbreak at Port de Paix.

Washington, June 8.—Mr. Sammon, the Haitien minister in Washington was considerably surprised at the report that Port De Paix was apprehensive of a revolutionary uprising. The latest advices from his own government indicated that the rebel movement was confined to a point remote from Port De Paix in the mountainous district near the Dominican boundary. Because of the difficult nature of the country it was a considerable task for the government forces successfully to run down the small bands operating in that section. The minister believes that the people of Port De Paix have become unduly alarmed by reports brought in by messengers.

The representatives of the governments of San Domingo and Haiti, who for the past fortnight have been working here to arrange the terms upon which the boundary dispute between the two countries can be submitted to the arbitration of The Hague tribunal, have asked the State Department for assistance. The department has assigned William Doyle, of the Latin-American Bureau, to join in the conferences. A speedy settlement of matters is expected.

The boundary question is of thirty-five years' standing, and the issues involved are very complex. Both the direct representatives of the two countries are disposed to be conciliatory, but wanted an unbiased third party's assistance.

Officials of the college say that Miller's mind had been affected by overstudy, in an effort to complete his examinations and graduate wit hhis class this evening. Professor Ellis is expected to recover.

BISHOP RANDOLPH MAKES ADDRESS

Final Exercises at William and Mary—Meeting of Board of Visitors.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

Williamsburg, Va., June 8.—The conferring of degrees, diplomas, prizes and scholarships marked the closing of William and Mary this morning. Dr. Lyon G. Tyler presided, and announced the following scholarships:

Soutter, to A. F. English, of Pennsylvania; Chancellor, to J. E. Pool, of Portsmouth; Graves, to Abraham Brodowsky, of New York; Corcoran, to Charles R. Bagley, of North Carolina; Philo Bennett, to John H. Wright, of Richmond. The Pi Kappa Alpha scholarship, given for the best translation, was awarded to A. F. English, of New York. The James Barron Hope scholarship, for the best poetical contribution to the William and Mary Literary Magazine, was awarded to Martin Feinstein, of New York. The prize for the best prost contribution to the Literary Magazine was awarded to Earl B. Thomas, of New York.

After the conferring of the degrees, the annual address to the graduating class was delivered by Bishop Alfred Magill Randolph, of Norfolk, whose subject was "What Constitutes a Great Man, as Illustrated in the Life and Character of Robert E. Lee." The address was brilliant and scholarly, and was listened to with the deepest attention by the large audience present. At its close President Lyon G. Tyler declared the session of 1910-11 at an end.

The final ball to-night marked the closing event of a brilliant commencement, from a social viewpoint, and many couples danced till late in the night.

Board of Visitors.

The board of visitors of William and Mary, which, had been in session for several days, with Superintendent Joseph D. Eggleston, presiding, adjourned yesterday, after having made several radical changes in the management of the institution. The position of steward, which has been held since 1888 by Robert L. Spencer, was abolished, and the boarding department leased to W. T. Brown, who, for the past three or four years, conducted a large boarding house in town and attended lectures.

The kindergarten, which was conducted as a separate school, was abolished. Some kindergarten work will be conducted in connection with the Model School, and Miss Ellen Barnes was chosen teacher of this department.

The board deferred the election of college physician, physical director and coach, and directed the executive committee to take steps at its next meeting towards getting a man for the joint salaries of the first two positions, who might discharge the duties of the three. H. L. Bridges, in addition to his duties as registrar, was elected superintendent of buildings and grounds.

The plan of collecting students below the collegiate grade into a normal academic course was approved, and two new teachers were elected at a salary of $1,200 each, who are to give their entire time to this new department. The teachers chosen were Professors R. C. Young and W. A. Bloxton.

The president of William and Mary and professors are well pleased with the new arrangement, whereby the normal and academic departments are clearly separated, and believe the chnges made by the board will be reflected in the better work possible in the future.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

Amherst, Va., June 8.—Sweet Briar College closed one of its most successful sessions yesterday. The exercises began on Saturday night with a recital by the students in the musical department. The following young women received the degree of bachelor of arts, which is the only degree conferred by the college: Miss Emma Morris, Richmond; Miss Josephine Murray, Johnstown, New York; Miss Jennie Hurt, Blackstone; Miss Mary Parker, Franklin; Miss Esther Keller, Munice, Ind., and Miss Alma Booth, Petersburg.

ENDS SUCCESSFUL SESSION.

Highland Springs School Closes With Interesting Exercises.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

Highland Springs, June 8.—The most successful session of the Highland Springs School closed during the past week. The enrolment reached 500, and 95 per cent. of the pupils were promoted.

All departments of industrial work report excellence in the work of the session. The class night exercises were celebrated Wednesday night, and were enjoyed by a large audience.

The Marion T. Read essay medal was won by Miss Mabel Robins, of Elko, her subject being "Ideals or Aims to Make a Life Worth Living." There were thirty-four contestants, and the contest was keen.

This is the only school in this section that has a machine shop, a carpenter shop, a school garden, and offers instruction in theory and practice of domestic science. Its diploma carries with it the highest honor a public school can give its graduates—permission to teach in the public schools of Virginia.

The following graduates, in order of their standing, were presented with their diplomas by J. B. Dowden: Miss Ruth Lord, Miss Margaret Dowden, Miss Mabel Robins.

One of the most graceful acts of the occasion was the presentation of a beautiful bouquet by the recipient, Miss Mabel Robins, to Mrs. Marion T. Read, the donor of the Read essay medal.

Superintendent Arthur D. Wright presided, introducing the speakers.

The final essay was read by Miss Margaret Dowden, the subject being "The Value of Industrial Education."

The 7-B graduates were presented their diplomas by Dr. G. T. Collins in an able speech. The industrial prizes were won by Wawne Smith, first honor; Alfred Fry, second honor, J. B. Dowden being the liberal donor of these gifts.

The Rev. R. W. Savage, in presenting the medal to Miss Robins, paid a hight tribute to the public-spirited woman, the donor of the medal, Mrs. Percy Read, of Highland Springs.

One of the finest addresses ever heard in Highland Springs was delivered before the graduating class of the high school by President E. H. Russell, of the Fredericksburg College for Women.

AUTO ASSOCIATION WILL IMPROVE AMHERST ROADS

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

Amherst, Va., June 8.—The board of supervisors of Amherst county was in session here Tuesday. At noon the members of the board went over to Lynchburg in an automobile, as the guests of James R. Gilliam to inspect the macadam road from Amherst Courthouse to Lynchburg. They returned to Amherst in the Automobile Tuesday evening, and resumed their session. Much business of importance was transacted by the board. Among other things they granted permission to the Lynchburg Automobile Association to improve the road from Minor's Branch, in Pedlar District, by Naola and Snowden to the Rockbridge line, the work to be done at the expense of the association. The association also offered to give $1,030 towards repairing the macadam road from Lynchburg to Amherst Courthouse, and this offer was accepted. The board also adopted certain rules and regulations for the use and preservation of the macadam roads in the county.

COAT COLLAR WHITE WITH DANDRUFF

Scalp Badly Affected. Itched Terribly. Hair Fell Out. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. Now Has Thick Growth of Hair and Is Never Troubled with Any Dandruff or Itching of Scalp.

"I am more than gratified by the successful results I obtained by the use of the Cuticura Remedies. For several years my scalp was very badly affected with dandruff and scales. My scalp itched terribly at times and my hair fell out. My coat collar would be actually white with the dandruff that had fallen from my head. My profession being that of a barber, I was particular about having my hair in good condition, and was also in a position to try many lotions, etc., for the scalp. These had little or no effect. I had heard so much about the Cuticura Remedies that I resolved to try them. I shampooed my head with Cuticura Soap twice a week and after drying my head thoroughly, I anointed parts of my scalp with Cuticura Ointment. I was pleased from the outset, and continued to keep up this treatment. To think that only three cakes of Cuticura Soap and one and one-half boxes of Cuticura Ointment rid my head of this annoying trouble, made me feel quite contented. I have now got a thick growth of hair and I am never troubled with any dandruff or itching of the scalp. There is no question but that the Cuticura Remedies cured me. I frequently recommend them to my customers, and they think a great deal of them." (Signed) John F. Williams, 307 Norfolk Street, Dorchester, Boston, Mass., July 28, 1910.

FEDERATION ENDS ANNUAL SESSION

Most of Day Consumed in Contests Over Election of Officers.

POLL TAXES ARE FAVORED

Convention Refuses to Ask for Their Abolition—Many Resolutions.

PHIL METZ.

At the conclusion of a day spent almost entirely in spirited contests over the offices to be filled, and in the consideration and passage of resolutions, the Virginia Federation of Labor adjourned sine die last evening at 6 o'clock. It seemed that a hot fight would be sprung at the very end of the session, over what was supposed to be a plain speaking report from a special committee to investigate certain periodicals said to be soliciting advertising wrongfully in the name of the federation. But this committee was not ready with a full report, and it was instructed to file it later before the executive committee.

Lynchburg won over Fredericksburg for the next place of meeting.

Officers Chosen.

The election of officers for the ensuing year resulted as follows:

President, Philip Metz, of Richmond.

Vice Presidents—A. A. Haley, Newport News; Joseph Augley, Roanoke; P. P. Sutton, Norfolk; R. S. Cleveland, Alexandria; M. L. Lathram, Fredericksburg; R. S. Jones, Arvonia, Miss Mary Young, Alexandria.

Secretary and Treasurer, E. C. Davison, Richmond.

Executive Committee, in addition to president, first vice-president and secretary-treasurer—J. B. Clinedist, Newport News, and L. Lollo, Alexandria.

Legislative Committee—E. C. Davison, Richmond; H. D. Colvin, Alexandria; W. K. Hutchen, Newport News.

Delegate to National Federation of Labor, E. W. Blakey, Richmond; Alternate, H. T. Colvin, Alexandria.

Sergeant-at-Arms, L. C. Cole, of Newport News.

Fight for Secretaryship.

Perhaps the hottest contest of the morning session was that between E. C. Davison and M. R. Pace, both of Richmond, for the office of secretary and treasurer. At first the result was a tie, and it was not until several delegates changed to Mr. Davison that the election could be had. Mr. Pace has held the position for years.

Mr. Metz defeated H. T. Colvin, of Alexandria, by a vote of 51 to 29. C. H. Clifton, another nominee, received but three votes. The new president made a neat speech in accepting the office.

Mr. Colvin was placed in nomination also in opposition to E. W. Blakey for delegate to the national federation, the vote being 46 to 27 for the latter. These elections took up much time, for there was a great deal of speechmaking in the nominations. James J. Creamer was placed in nomination for delegate, but declined, saying that there is but one office he desires—membership in the House of Delegates from Richmond. Several others refused to allow the use of their names, among them John Hirschberg.

Favor Poll Tax.

Probably the most important action taken from the standpoint of public affairs was the refusal of the federation to go on record as favoring the elimination of poll tax paying as a prerequisite to vote in Virginia. A resolution had been introduced setting forth that the poll tax requirement results in disfranchising many laboring men, and that the Constitution should be amended so as to allow men to vote when otherwise qualified, regardless of this tax. The resolutions committee was divided on the proposition, three voting against and two for the resolution. The federation indorsed the majority, and a motion for the adoption of the resolution was tabled.

It was voted that in the next convention the clothing of each delegate be inspected, and that no one be admitted to membership who does not wear at least three articles which bear the union label. Another resolution, providing that no one should be a member who was not a qualified voter in this State, was laid on the table, the point being made that a delegate might be a citizen of another State or might be a woman.

The convention asked Congress to prevent competition in music against civilian labor from enlisted men of the army and navy bands.

Help McNamara.

Sympathy was expressed with John J. McNamara and indignation was voiced at his "abduction" and the means used to bring him to trial for the Los Angeles dynamite tragedy. The sum of $50 was appropriated to aid in his defense, and there was plenty of criticism of those who had to do with the arrest. The federation took a whack at ex-President Roosevelt and Governor Marshall.

More money was asked from Virginia to aid in the care of victims of tuberculosis. The State was asked to empower the Labor Commissioner to secure information regarding relief funds established by employers. Free text-books in the public schools were demanded, and the federation asked Congress to take the tax off colored oleomargarine. The convention indorsed the strike on the Pennsylvania Railroad, and learned with satisfaction of the partial settlement of the labor troubles in the slate quarries at Arvonia, Va.

Appear Before Legislature.

Proposed laws regarding protection of car workers from the weather and the elimination of an improper age limit, went to the legislative committee. The latter body was allowed pay at the rate of $4 per day for the Richmond member and $6 a day with railroad fare to the out-tof-town members while on duty at the next session of the Legislature.

Commissioner of Labor James B. Doherty told the delegates that they had wasted their time and the organization's money if they did not follow up their action in convention by appropriate action at home. He was warmly welcomed, and loudly cheered, and the session of the convention ended with a general feeling of good fellowship.
