Data Availability Statement

The data used in this study is individual level information obtained from The Swedish National Council for Crime Prevention.[1] Due to the sensitive nature of the topic of political violence in the survey questions, and given that some information in the survey comes from the administrative registers, we are under strict contractual obligation not to disseminate these raw data to other individuals. Interested readers can apply for permission to purchase the data directly from the National Council for Crime Prevention,[2] and can seek permission from the Swedish Ethical Review Authority.[3]
