Studies 1 and 2

Note: This appears all on one page. Position of response items is randomized.

We'd like to get your feelings toward some people and groups who are in the news these days using something we call the feeling thermometer. Here's how it works:

Ratings between 50 degrees and 100 degrees mean that you feel favorable and warm towards the person or group. Ratings between 0 degrees and 50 degrees mean that you feel unfavorable and cold towards the person or group. You would rate the person at the 50 degree mark if you don't feel particularly warm or cold toward the person or group.

How do you feel about the groups below?

Unfavorable and Cool — Neutral — Favorable and Warm

0 10 20 30 40 50 60 70 80 90 100

People who support Donald Trump

Democratic voters

People who oppose Donald Trump

People who disagree with you about how the government should treat undocumented immigrants

Democratic politicians

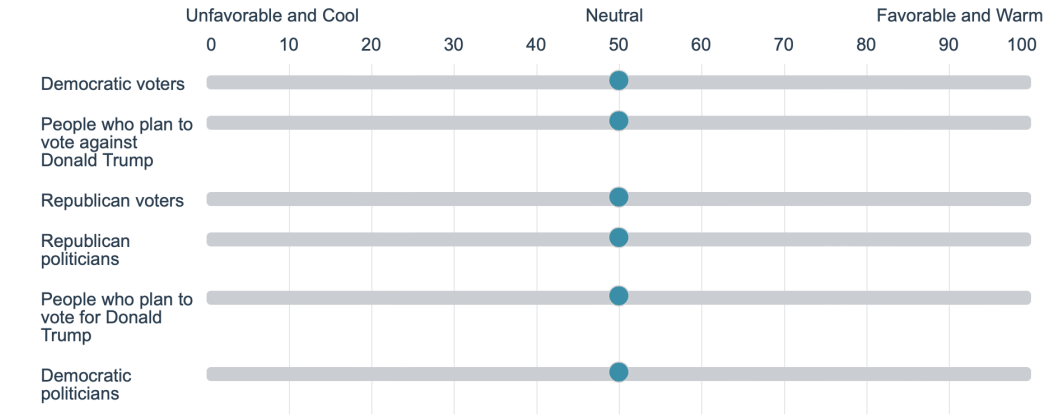
Republican politicians

People who agree with you about how the government should treat undocumented immigrants

Republican voters

Study 3

Note: Position of response items is randomized.

We'd like to get your feelings toward some people and groups who are in the news these days using something we call the feeling thermometer. Here's how it works:


Ratings between 50 degrees and 100 degrees mean that you feel favorable and warm towards the person or group. Ratings between 0 degrees and 50 degrees mean that you feel unfavorable and cold towards the person or group. You would rate the person at the 50 degree mark if you don't feel particularly warm or cold toward the person or group.