
Note: Plots display variation of predicted individual treatment effects across values of continuous (scatter plots) and categorical (box plots) covariates (the eight most important in terms of treatment heterogeneity). The gray curve is a simple smoothing curve.