No. 2002-1305 of 29 October 2002 authorising the approval of the third amendment to the agreement of 27 December 1968 between the Government of the Republic and the Government of the Democratic Republic of Algeria and relating to the movement, employment and residence in France of Algerian nationals and their families and its annexed protocol (together an exchange of letters)

(O.J. of 30 October 2002) [on the Légifrance website]

Preparatory work Outline of the legislative procedure

This amendment, signed in Paris on 11 July 2001, aims to bring the provisions applicable to Algerian nationals of the Ordinary law on the entry and residence of foreigners established by the Act of 11 May 1998 on entry and residence of foreigners in France and the right of asylum (known as the " RESEDA", the latest amendment to the Ordinance of 2 November 1945).
The entry into force of this amendment will open the door to Algerian nationals the benefit of the new residence permits introduced by the 1998. It will thus approximate the arrangements applicable to Algerian nationals of the ordinary law on foreigners, in particular with regard to the conditions obtaining residence permits, family reunification and access to employment for students.
