Daily Rapid Response COVID-19 Watchlist published to further protect New Mexicans from COVID-19 exposure

SANTA FE — In an effort to protect New Mexicans from COVID-19, the New Mexico Environment Department (NMED) will be publishing the names of all entities, including but not limited to commercial businesses, government agencies, and institutions, that have had two or more rapid responses during the last 14 calendar days. The new "Rapid Response COVID-19 Watchlist" brings greater transparency to COVID-19 spread in communities throughout the State.

"Employees, their families, and members of the public have the right to easily access this information," said NMED Cabinet Secretary James Kenney. "New Mexicans need to know how well or how poorly businesses and organizations are doing in their efforts to stop the spread of COVID-19."

The Rapid Response COVID-19 Watchlist will be updated daily and shared with the media via a daily press release and with the public through NMED's website and social media. In addition, NMED is now publishing on its website the cumulative number of rapid responses conducted at all organizations.

The Rapid Response COVID-19 Watchlist will also assist NMED's Occupational Health and Safety Bureau, as well as other state and local regulatory agencies, in evaluating whether such organizations are complying with the State's Public Health Orders and COVID-Safe Practices. Regulatory agencies may initiate compliance investigations and/or exercise enforcement in situations where these organizations failed to adhere to required practices.

The current Rapid Response COVID-19 Watchlist is listed below and posted on NMED's website here. For the latest information on COVID-19 in New Mexico, visit https://cv.nmhealth.org/.
