ANNOUNCEMENT
March 19, 2020

Court payment centers closed until further notice

Closure is a precautionary measure against the spread of the COVID-19 virus

In an additional precautionary measure to slow or stop the spread of the COVID-19 virus, the Delaware Courts will no longer be accepting any in-person payments at any Delaware court facility.

This means that the Filing and Payment Center at the Leonard L. Williams Justice Center in Wilmington; the Office of State Court Collections Enforcement (OSCCE) Central Collections Office in the Kent County Courthouse; the OSCCE Georgetown Office; and the OSCCE office at Northern New Castle Probation Office on Cherry Lane are all closed until further notice.

Payments by phone are also suspended until further notice.

Remote payments for any court-ordered financial assessments (such as restitution, statutory surcharges, fines and court costs) can still be made either online https://courts.delaware.gov/aoc/oscce/epayments.aspx or via OSCCE payment kiosks located throughout the state, depending on the availability of those locations (see list below).

The Delaware Courts thank everyone for their continuing cooperation and patience during this public health emergency.
