(FILED –February 12, 2021)

This court is exploring how best to make documents filed in the court — briefs, appendices, transcripts, and record materials from trial-court and agency proceedings — electronically available to the general public to the extent feasible. The court intends to require that such materials be subject to appropriate redactions and other procedures to protect confidential and other sensitive information and to comply with any laws limiting or prohibiting the dissemination of such information. Before drafting rules and procedures concerning such public access, the court would like the benefit of general comments and/or specific suggestions from the public and potentially interested parties. Written comments may be submitted by March 12, 2021. Comments may be submitted electronically to rules@dcappeals.gov, or in writing, addressed to the Clerk, D.C.
