DFR Approves Several Insurer Plans to Refund Auto Insurance Premiums during Stay-Home Stay-Safe Order

Sixty-five auto insurance companies have filed plans to return premiums, pay dividends, or reduce their rates for Vermont policyholders due to reduced driving during the COVID-19 pandemic. These plans will amount to over $15.4 million in savings for Vermonters. If your insurer has implemented a premium credit, dividend, or refund plan, you can expect to receive a credit on your auto insurance statement, a dividend, a refund check, or a reduced rate when you renew your policy. Information about your insurer's plan is generally available on your insurer's website.

Also, consumers may view insurance filings by accessing the System for Electronic Rate and Form Filing (SERFF). SERFF offers access to the public to view non-confidential filings.
