Civil Service Commission Suspends Examinations and Trainings Until Further Notice

Trenton – The New Jersey Civil Service Commission is suspending civil service examinations and trainings offered by its Center for Learning and Improving Performance (CLIP) until further notice. The suspension comes in the wake of COVID-19.

"While we recognize the benefits of the exams and trainings to our state and local government employees, we are sensitive to the health crisis currently gripping our state. The health and safety of our community and state, especially of our employees, test takers, and trainees, comes first." said Chair and Chief Executive Officer of the Civil Service Commission, Deirdre Webster Cobb Esq., "We are monitoring the situation closely and will announce the lift of the suspension at a later date."
