Pursuant to Article V, §8 of the Idaho Constitution, "in case of epidemic, pestilence, or destruction of courthouses, the justices may hold the terms of the Supreme Court provided by this section at other convenient places, to be fixed by a majority of said justices."

Having found that a Coronavirus epidemic began in Idaho in March of 2020, a majority of Supreme Court Justices have determined that all appellate arguments before the Court will be held remotely and live streamed for public viewing until further order of this Court.

IT IS SO ORDERED.

DATED November 16, 2020, Nunc Pro Tunc April 1, 2020.
