All tables and calculations were done in Stata, while figures and graphics were computed in R. The directory contains the following files:

1. preliminary.do: Contains the preliminary variable creation and cleaning of the original dataset.
2. analysis_final.do: Contains the code used to create the tables in the paper.
3. supplementary.do: Contains the code used to create the additional tables in the supplementary material of the paper.
4. figures.R: Contains the R code to obtain the figures in the paper.
5. supplementary_figures.R: Contains the R code to obtain the figures in the supplementary material.

The files are meant to be compiled in the preceding order, specially the do files since they serve as input to each other. All tables resulting from the do files are saved in Excel files.
