We will raffle an additional two £100 Amazon vouchers among all respondents who have completed the survey. The ultimate value of the voucher depends on your decision on the following: If you win a voucher, you can decide to increase the value of the second voucher that another person has won. You can give any amount between 0 and 100 pounds by which the value of your voucher will be decreased. Each pound that you decide to give to the other individual will be doubled. This means that if you decide to give, say, £$q2_amount1, the other person will receive £$q2_amount2 and you will receive £$q2_amount1b. Likewise, if the other person decides to give, say, £$q2_amount3, you will receive £$q2_amount4 and they will receive £$q2_amount3b.

Now suppose you knew how much the other winner of the voucher was going to contribute. Please indicate how much you would like to give if the other winner of the voucher gives the following amount? Remember that any amount that you decide to give to the other winner is doubled.

Most countries around the world are currently discussing the possibility of agreeing to new policies that would address the problem of global warming. We are interested in what you think about these international efforts and the UK's possible participation in such an agreement.

We will now provide you with several examples of what agreements between countries to address climate change could look like. We will always show you two possible agreements in comparison. For each comparison we would like to know which of the two agreements you prefer. You may like both alternatives similarly or may not like either of them at all. Regardless of your overall evaluation, please indicate which alternative you prefer over the other.

In total, we will show you four comparisons. People have different opinions about this issue and there are no right or wrong answers. Please take your time when reading the potential agreements. In addition to deciding which climate agreement you would prefer, we also ask you how likely you would be to vote for or against the UK joining each agreement in a referendum.
