Public Policy

Dear Dr. Schiff:

The Institutional Review Board (IRB) has carefully considered the referenced protocol Amendment #1 . Your approval is effective as of April 13, 2021. The proposed procedures and affiliated documents are exempt from further review by the Georgia Tech Institutional Review Board.

Minimal risk research qualified for exemption status under 45 CFR 46 101b. 2

Amendment #1 – Increase subject number, follow up survey and updated Emory approval.

If your study involves direct interactions with participants, please be sure to reference our guidance at: https://oria.gatech.edu/irb/important-news-and-updates#restart . Please also be sure use the "COVID-19 Pre-Screening Questionnaire/Script" for all researchers and participants and to administer the "COVID 19 Information Sheet for Human Subject Participants" to all participants during the consent process, as indicated on the website.

Thank you for allowing us the opportunity to review your plans. If any complaints or other evidence of risk should occur, or if there is a significant change in the plans, the IRB must be notified.

If you have any questions concerning this approval or regulations governing human subject activities, please contact me at 404.894.6942.

Sincerely,

Melanie J. Clark, CIP
