IRB EXEMPT MODIFICATION APPROVAL

November 7, 2022

Natalia Salgado Bueno, Ph.D.

nbueno@emory.edu

Title:	The Liar's Dividend: The Impact of Deepfakes and Fake News on Trust in Political Discourse
Principal Investigator:	Natalia Salgado Bueno
IRB ID:	MOD007-STUDY00000093
Funding:	Name: Emory University
IND, IDE or HDE:	None
Documents Reviewed:	• Consent Form, Category: Consent Form; • Deception information-consent form, Category: Other; • Extension - Oct 22, Category: Surveys, Questionnaires, Interview Guides; • Replication Oct 22, Category: Surveys, Questionnaires, Interview Guides; • Schiff_Schiff_Bueno_sociobehavioral_protocol_update_1022.pdf, Category: IRB Protocol;

Dear Dr. Natalia Salgado Bueno:

Thank you for submitting the above-referenced amendment request. The Emory IRB reviewed and approved this Exempt study amendment on 11/4/2022.

This amendment includes the following:

- Changed PI from Dr. Kaylyn Jackson to Dr. Natalia Salgado Bueno (due to relocation of previous PI to another institution)
- Added follow-up studies (replication and extension studies), changed recruitment platform, updated questionnaire scripts, increased enrollment targret
- Updated consent form and uploaded debriefing script
- These changes do not alter the IRB's Exempt review determination (3)(i)(A)

In conducting this protocol, you are required to follow the requirements listed in the Emory Policies and Procedures, which can be found at our IRB website.

Sincerely,

Ksenia Lyon, MPA, CIP
Research Protocol Analyst

Your stamped consent form is available under the "Documents" tab.

Now that your submission has been approved, please take a few moments to complete the Emory IRB Satisfaction Survey. We will use your responses to improve our service to the Emory research community. We appreciate your feedback!