Foreword

The implementation of the constitution has created increased demand for comprehensive and disaggregated statistical information to inform evidence based policy formulation, budget process, monitoring and evaluation of various programmes both at the county and national levels has increased over time.

It is on this basis that Kenya National Bureau of Statistics, being the principal agency of the Government for coordinating and supervising all official statistical programs undertaken within the National Statistical System embarked on various statistical activities. One of such key activities is the compilation of county statistical abstract.

The 2015 County Statistical Abstract Report is the first of its kind to be developed in West Pokot County and will be produced annually. This will be a single source of indicators covering various sectors of the economy at the county level. The report has mainly benefited from the administrative data generated in the county. In addition, some indicators were compiled from various survey reports and population and housing censuses.

The report is expected to provide a reliable platform for planning, policy formulation monitoring and evaluation process. The data contained in this abstract will enable data users to gauge the performance of the county.

In conclusion, there is need for collaborative efforts between the County and National Governments in order to improve on the quality of statistical information, enhance dissemination, and accessibility of statistics at the county level.

West Pokot County Government

Vision

To be a leading county in effective and efficient resource management coordinated sustainable development and service delivery.

Mission

To facilitate equitable development and improved public service delivery to stimulate sustainable social-economic development, high quality of life and become the best county in Kenya.

Overview of the County

West Pokot County is one of the forty seven (47) Counties in Kenya. It is situated in the Rift Valley region. The County is located in the north Rift along Kenya's Western boundary with Uganda. It borders Turkana County to the North and North East, Trans Nzoia County to the South, Elgeyo Marakwet and Baringo Counties to the South East.

The County lies within Longitudes $34^0$ 47' and $35^0$ 49' East and Latitude $1^0$ and $2^0$ North. The County covers an area of approximately 9,169.4 $km^2$ stretching a distance of 132 km from North to South.

West Pokot County is home to 512,690 people (male-49.7% and female-50.3%) according to the 2009 population and housing census. Kapenguria, Chepareria, Ortum and Sigor are major urban centres found along Kitale- Lodwar road.

The Pokot people (also spelled as Pökoot) are one of the Kalenjin languages similar and closely related to Marakwet language. The Pokot speaking people live in West Pokot County and Baringo (Tiaty Sub County) in Kenya and the Pokot District of Eastern Uganda.

Based on area and cultural differences, the communities of West Pokot can be divided into two groups; The Hill Pokot and the Plain Pokot. The Hill Pokot live in the rainy highlands in West and in the central south of West Pokot and are therefore both farmers and pastoralists. The Plain Pokot lives in the dry and infertile plains, herding cows, goats and sheep, thus are pure pastoralists.

The main economic activity is rearing of animals and growing of cereals (traditionally, sorghum and finger millet; more recently, maize) are at the center of Pokot subsistence and commercial activities, but their relative importance varies across. In general, cattle are more essential to subsistence in the lowlands than they are in the highlands. To ensure adequate food supply, herding and cultivating practices take advantage of the region's complex ecology. Herds are moved seasonally, and crops are planted in different ecological zones in order to stagger harvests and maximize yields. In addition, furrow irrigation is practiced in the highlands.

Agriculture

This section provides information on agro–ecological zones, land potential by selected sub-counties, type of crops grown, the total area cropped, amount produced and their value. It also gives information on average retail prices for farm inputs, acreage under irrigation by type of crop grown.

Notes and Definitions

High potential*:* Clay-loam soil with sufficient manure and good drainage.

Medium potential: Sandy-loam soil with high drainage.

Low potential: Sandy soil with very high drainage and low manure content.

Agro-Ecological Zones (AEZ): Refers to the Division of an area of land into smaller units, which have similar characteristics related to land suitability, potential production and environmental impact. The zone groups are temperature belts defined according to the maximum temperature limits within which the main crops in Kenya can flourish.

Reporting period: The data is reported on calendar year as opposed to seasonal basis. Therefore, for crops where planting and harvesting may take place more than once in the year, the production data is aggregated to get the annual data.

Agricultural Area: refer to area under the crop or the area harvested. For a particular crop, the area reported is on what has been harvested.

Arable land: Is the land under temporary agricultural crops (multiple-cropped areas are counted only once), temporary meadows and pastures (for less than five years), land under market and kitchen gardens, barnyards, and land temporarily fallow (for less than five years). The abandoned land resulting from shifting cultivation is not included in this category. Data for "Arable land" are not meant to indicate the amount of land that is potentially cultivable.

Crop production: Refers to the actual harvested production from the field and excludes threshing losses and that part of crop not harvested for any reason.

Farm gate Prices: The value of production given in this report uses farm gate prices as the basis of valuation of the production from the county. Farm gate price is the price paid to farmer at the farm level and hence excludes margins on transport.
