The more that conservative and liberal supporters argue with NDP supporters in the discussion board....the more I want to support NDP, and actually work to convince others around me to support NDP. Their posts are just rediculous, and when they figure out that the NDP supporters are here to stay, they get defensive and start the verbal assault....hmm, I can see why they support the parties they do ;)

I support NDP and Jack Layton 100%.

Perhaps more than anything else, for me, as a former student, I want the NDP party to promise to either reduce existing federal student loan debts for students or, at the very least, to reduce the current interest rate being charged for those students. Our government should be supporting its students rather than burdening us with high interest loans. NDP: Can you promise to help students with existing student loans by reducing dues or cutting interest rates to a nominal, low rate (say 3%)? Who's with me here?

I am leaning towards supporting NDP only because, I can't stand Dion, Liberals wasted our money when Chretien was prime minister, Conservatives are not conserned about small business, or family. I hope everyone else in the country swings to NDP to see what they can do. We have tried the rest, I'm hearing about a lot of Green folks voting NDP this time around because of your momentum towards an NDP minority (or majority!). Quite exciting! Keep up the good work.

also, former Green leader talks about why she now votes NDP
