2.1 Survey start

Informed Consent

Principal Investigator: [NAME]

"My name is [name]. I am a research assistant hired by the Catholic University of Bukavu. I would like you to participate in a short survey. We are conducting interviews to understand the impact of humanitarian aid on the health and the well-being of internally displaced populations in Eastern DRC.

You participated in this study one year ago, and we are asking you to participate again so that we can also learn about the longer-term impact of humanitarian aid. Also, note that we will link the information that we collect now with information that we collected a year ago: to learn about changes that might have taken place over time.

Before we begin, I would like to take a minute to explain why I am inviting you to participate and what I will be doing with the information you provide to me. Please stop me at any time if you have any questions. After I have told you a bit more about the research project, you can decide whether or not you would like to participate.

To refresh your memory, the goal of this study is to determine the most appropriate form of humanitarian aid for internally displaced populations in the future. We are focusing specifically on vouchers received from NGOs. We have interviewed and will be re-interviewing about 1,500 people in about 10 communities. The questions in the survey are about you, your household, and your community.

In addition, we would like to measure the height, weight, and arm circumference of every child less than 5 years of age who lives in your household. We would also like to perform a malaria test and a test for anemia. These tests will require a finger prick so that we can take two drops of blood (one for the malaria test and one for the anemia test). The tests will be performed by nurses with prior experience. Your child might feel a small amount of discomfort or have a small amount of bruising on your finger where the blood was taken. You have the right to know the test results. Any children whose test results indicate severe anemia or symptomatic malaria will be referred to the local health center. Neither you nor your children's names will appear on any specimens. Moreover, we will promptly dispose of all samples taken and all results will be made anonymous. Any information obtained in connection with this study will be kept strictly confidential. Only members of the study team will have access to information linking your name with your responses.

By participating in this survey, you will contribute to a better understanding of the challenges faced by IDPs and the effects of humanitarian assistance. The researchers will use the information collected in policy reports, as well as scientific articles that might be published and presented. No publications will include names or other personally identifiable information of participants. You can refuse to give us any information, including your name.

You do not have to answer all the questions if you do not want to. The interview should not last more than 90 minutes. Participation is on a purely voluntary basis and is not rewarded. We cannot promise that you will receive any benefits from participating in this study. The information we collect today is private and confidential. We will not share any details from the survey with anyone besides the research team.

If at any time and for any reason, you would prefer not to answer any questions, please feel free not to. If at any time you would like to stop participating, please tell me. We can take a break, stop and continue a bit later, or stop altogether. You can also choose to end the interview at any time if you wish without any consequence to your household, your family, or your hosts.

There are no correct or incorrect responses, so please express your opinions freely.

If you have any questions regarding this research or your rights as a research study participant, you may contact us at the phone number:

- [NAME], Field Research Associate, [PHONE#]
- [NAME], Principal Investigator at the Catholique University of Bukavu, [PHONE#]

May we have your permission to conduct the survey, and would you be willing to participate?
