ICPSR PROCESSING NOTE FOR # 24340

Women in Parliament, 1945-2003: Cross-National Dataset

1) Sequential record identifier: ICPSR created a unique sequential record identifier variable named CASEID for use with online analysis.

2) Codebook frequencies: Due to space limitations, frequencies for the variables CASEID and UNID, as well as many of the variables corresponding to percentages of women in parliament, are not shown in the ICPSR codebook.

Data Completeness Report

Notes: (1) Variables are individually listed only if they have greater than 5% missing data. These variables are listed under the appropriate percentage category in the order in which they appear in the data file. (2) The Data Completeness Report only captures information about system missing or other values that are declared missing. Codes that have a label implying that they are missing but that are not declared missing values are not reflected in this report. Data users should consult the codebook for more specific information about missing values. (3) Some variables that have 100% missing data may have been blanked by ICPSR to protect respondent confidentiality. Data users should consult the codebook for more specific information about blanked variables. (4) Data do not contain skip patterns or skip patterns are not reflected in the data as coded.

Parliament Data

p1945 Percent of parliamentary body that was female for a given year, 1945-2003. Values: 0.0%-48.8%, '-99'=true missing, '-88'=missing due to coup d'etat, '.'=no parliament in session. Sources: Women in Parliaments 1945-1995, Inter-Parliamentary Union, 1995; Inter-Parliamentary Union Statistical Archive, http://www.ipu.org/wmn-e/classif-arc.htm.

Notes on p1945: In some cases the percents in this variable differ from those give by the Inter-Parliamentary Union. Some percents have been altered, removed or added. These cases include: Armenia, Azerbaijan, Botswana, Burundi, Cameroon, Colombia, Congo, Costa Rica, Czech Republic, Czechoslovakia, Estonia, Macedonia, Georgia, Greece, Grenada, Guatemala, Guinea-Bissau, Iceland, Italy, Kazakhstan, Kiribati, Kyrgyzstan, Lesotho, Lithuania, Malta, Mexico, Myanmar, Namibia, New Zealand, Nicaragua, Niger, Pakistan, Palau, Panama, Seychelles, Singapore, Slovakia, Somalia, Sri Lanka, Sudan, Tajikistan, Thailand, Turkmenistan, Tuvalu, Ukraine, United States, Uzbekistan and Vanuatu. For more detail, see CodingNotes.xls—Percent Revisions. See also CodingNotes.xls—Percent Resolutions startsov Year in which country became sovereign. '.'=missing. Sources: Women in Parliaments 1945-1995, Inter-Parliamentary Union, 1995; CIA World Factbook http://www.cia.gov/cia/publications/factbook/; U.S. State Department Background Notes, http://www.state.gov/r/pa/ei/bgn/.

Notes on startsov: The baseline source for this variable was Women in Parliaments 1945-1995. Based on other sources, in some cases the startsov year has been changed from that given by Women in Parliaments 1945-1995. These cases include: Azerbaijan, Cameroon, Germany (Democratic Republic), Germany, Iran, Marshall Islands, Micronesia, Mongolia, Mozambique, Romania, and the Russian Federation. For more detail, see CodingNotes.xls—Date Revisions. It is worth noting that the IPU was inconsistent in its treatment of communist countries. Sometimes the IPU restarted date of sovereignty when a country transitioned to communist rule (e.g., China). Other times it did not (e.g., Cuba). We view the incorporation of communist government as a regime change rather than the creation of a new country. Therefore, we change communist country sovereignty dates to appropriate pre-communist dates (e.g., China to –221) unless a border change accompanies the communist transition.

endsov Year in which country dissolved/lost sovereignty. Sources: Women in Parliaments 1945-1995, Inter-Parliamentary Union, 1995; CIA World Factbook, http://www.cia.gov/cia/publications/factbook/, U.S. State Department Background Notes, http://www.state.gov/r/pa/ei/bgn/.

Notes for frstmp: In some cases the firstmp year has been changed from that given by Women in Parliaments 1945-1995. These cases include: Armenia, Azerbaijan, Belarus, Bosnia, Czech Republic, Estonia, Georgia, Germany, Kazakhstan, Kyrgyzstan, Lithuania, Moldova, the Russian Federation, Slovakia, Tajikistan, Macedonia, Turkmenistan, Ukraine, Uzbekistan, and Viet Nam. For more detail, see CodingNotes.xls—Date Revisions.

frstpres Year in which first female was elected president of the country. '9999'=event has not yet occurred. Source: Inter-Parliamentary Union.

Notes on frstpres: All female presidents are recorded, we do not distinguish between powerful presidents and presidents with largely symbolic power. See Paxton, Pamela and Melanie Hughes, 2007, Women, Politics, and Power: A Global Perspective, pages, 80-85.

frstpm Year in which first female was elected prime minister of the country. '9999'=event has not yet occurred. Source: Inter-Parliamentary Union.

frsthdprlmt Year in which first female was elected head of a parliamentary body. '9999'=event has not yet occurred. Source: Inter-Parliamentary Union.

nelections Number of elections held between 1945 and 2003. '9999'=no elections have occurred; '.'=missing.

thresh10 Year in which a country first attained 10% or more in their parliament. '9999'=event has not yet occurred. Note: This variable represents when a country first attained 10% or more in parliament. A country may drop below this threshold in later years.

thresh20 Year in which a country first attained 20% or more in their parliament. '9999'=event has not yet occurred. Note: This variable represents when a country first attained 20% or more in parliament. A country may drop below this threshold in later years.

thresh30 Year in which a country first attained 30% or more in their parliament. '9999'=event has not yet occurred. Note: This variable represents when a country first attained 30% or more in parliament. A country may drop below this threshold in later years.

Notes for Parliament Data: Limited parliamentary data is also available for two additional cases. Germany prior to 1949: startsov 1871, endsov1949, frstprlmt 1871, univsuff 1918, univstand 1918, frstmp 1919. Vietnam prior to 1955: startsov 1945, endsov 1954, frstprlmt 1946, univsuff 1946, univstand 1946, frstmp 1946.

Dates of sovereignty, first parliament, suffrage, first MP, etc. do not always follow an orderly progression for every country. That is, sometimes first parliament comes before sovereignty, sometimes suffrage comes before first parliament, etc. We have attempted to record information in a way that allows any researcher to recreate the maximum possible information related to significant events in a country's history. A few general rules were used and these are recorded in CodingNotes.xls. For example, SOV Rule: for these countries transitioning to sovereignty in the last half of the 20th century, we change first parliament dates to match sovereignty dates as these can be viewed as technically new parliaments, in a new country, with the continuation of members of parliament elected prior to sovereignty. In some countries this appears particularly appropriate, as changes to the parliament, such as merging of parties, occurred upon independence (e.g., Congo). However, we keep first MP dates and suffrage dates before first parliament as a reminder that advances for women often occurred under colonial rule.

For countries whose sovereignty dates and first parliament dates were discrepant in the early part of the century, we decide on a case-by-case basis. For example, we acknowledge the long history of parliamentary elections before sovereignty for countries like Iceland, Finland, etc.

Similarly, the EE Rule states that for the Eastern European countries where the IPU recorded first parliament dates as the election of the parliament that was used at time of sovereignty, we change first parliament and first MP dates to match date of sovereignty. Our view is that it was technically a new parliament, in a new country, with the continuation of members of parliament from the previous regime. Again, we do not change suffrage dates that sometimes occurred very early in the century. This acknowledges the history of gains for women in some newly independent countries.

It is our hope that researchers can take this information and make decisions about coding that are appropriate for their individual analyses. For example, a researcher could decide to force all first MP dates to match date of sovereignty with a single line of programming code. Or, they could acknowledge variation due to issues like colonialism and include appropriate explanatory variables. The only place where we deleted information that might be relevant to some researchers is in percentage women in parliament. All percentages prior to sovereignty are deleted even if they were available in Women in Parliaments 1945-1995. Researchers wishing to use this data would need to obtain it from that publication.

Marxist-Leninist Ideology

marx_st Year country adopted Marxist-Leninist ideology. "0"=No Marxist-Leninist ideology. Sources: CIA World Factbook (2004); the New Book of World Rankings (1984); various online encyclopedias and websites.

marx_end Year country ended Marxist-Leninist ideology. "0"=No Marxist-Leninist ideology. Still Marxist countries are coded 9999. Sources:

CIA World Factbook (2004); the New Book of World Rankings (1984); various online encyclopedias and websites

*Notes on Marxist-Leninist Ideology: In Afghanistan, Angola, and Poland, there is a period of war surrounding the beginning or end of Marxism in the country. The latest year for start of Marxist ideology and the earliest year for the end of Marxist ideology are used. For example, although October 1917 is the start of the revolution, 1918 is used as the start of Marxist-Leninism in the USSR because this is when the assembly was dissolved and industry was nationalized.

			RULES:
			EE Rule : For the Eastern European countries where the IPU recorded first parliament dates as the election of the parliament that was used at time of sovereignty, we change first parliament and first MP dates to match date of sovereignty. Our view is that it was a new parliament, in a new country. We also adjust some sovereignty dates (i.e. Azerbaijan, Russian Federation) to those given by the CIA World Factbook to be consistent across cases.
			SOV Rule : For these countries transitioning to sovereignty, we change first parliament dates to match sovereignty dates as these can be viewed as new parliaments, in a new country. In some countries this appears particularly appropriate, as changes to the parliament, such as merging of parties, occurred upon independence (e.g., Congo)
			NP Rule : IPU did not provide dates of sovereignty if the country became independent before 1945, nor did it provide complete information on dissolved states (such as Czechoslovakia). Therefore, these dates were researched and recorded from other sources. Most dates of sovereignty were taken from the CIA World Factbook; although in some cases, several dates were offered by the Factbook. In these cases, other sources were consulted and the most reasonable date (in terms of borders, colonial history and government structure) was chosen. Dates regarding first parliament and first MP were sometimes provided by guide2womenleaders.com.

Burundi	Jun-93	1998, 14/118	1999, 7/117	2000-01, 17/118	2002, 33/179	IPU Parline: On 6 June 1998, President Buyoya signed into law a Transitional Constitutional Act. According to its terms, membership of the Parliament was to be increased from 81 to 121 members and to comprise members of the former National Assembly as well as those belonging to political parties and civil society. The above-mentioned enlargement of Parliament - known as the Transitional National Assembly - took place on 16 July. CIA World Factbook: A new transitional government, inaugurated on 1 November 2001, was to be the first step toward holding national elections in three years. While the Government of Burundi signed a cease-fire agreement in December 2002 with three of Burundi's four Hutu rebel groups, implementation of the agreement has been problematic and one rebel group refuses to sign on, clouding prospects for a sustainable peace. Summary: 1993-97-missing due to war; 1998-01-transitional government; 2002-03-new government	1993-1997: missing; 1998-2001: 17/118, 14.4%; 2002-2003: 33/179, 18.4%

			SD -the Russo-Turkish War (1877-78) and the Treaty of Berlin (1885), Bulgaria gained some autonomy under the Ottoman Empire, but complete independence was not recognized until 1908.
			http://www.zum.de/whkmla/region/balkans/bulgaria18791896.html -In 1879 a CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY met in Bulgaria's ancient capital of TRNOVO. SOFIA was selected as the country's new capital, because of its location, central within a Greater Bulgaria, but rather decentral in the borders given to Bulgaria by the Berlin Congress of 1878. Bulgaria adopted a constitution which provided for a unicameral parliament, the SUBRANIE, according to the Serbian model. Yet there were two different assemblies, the ORDINARY ASSEMBLY, which was to meet every year in October (after the harvest was in) and to meet for two months. The GRAND NATIONAL ASSEMBLY was to meet only when major issues were to be decided. The GNA included both elected deputies as well as high-standing personalities such as church leaders, high-ranking judges etc. The constitution provided for UNIVERSAL MANHOOD SUFFRAGE, the voting age limit being 21. German ALEXANDER BATTENBERG was elected Prince of Bulgaria; The Berlin Congress had not given full independence, only political autonomy to Bulgaria; therefore the country had been given the status of a principality, not that of a kingdom.
Finland	1917	1907	CIA -Finland was a province and then a grand duchy under Sweden from the 12th to the 19th centuries and an autonomous grand duchy of Russia after 1809. It won its complete independence in 1917.	Retain Parliament date before Sovereignty date SD -Iceland passed to Denmark in the late 14th century when Norway and Denmark were united under the Danish crown. In the early 19th century, national consciousness revived in Iceland. The Althingi had been abolished in 1800 but was reestablished in 1843 as a consultative assembly. In 1874, Denmark granted Iceland home rule, which again was extended in 1904. The constitution, written in 1874, was revised in 1903, and a minister for Icelandic affairs, residing in Reykjavik, was made responsible to the Althingi. The Act of Union, a 1918 agreement with Denmark, recognized Iceland as a fully sovereign state united with Denmark under a common king. Iceland established its own flag, but Denmark continued to represent Icelandic foreign affairs and defense interests. German occupation of Denmark in 1940 severed communications between Iceland and Denmark. Consequently, Iceland moved immediately to assume control over its own territorial waters and foreign affairs. In May 1940, British military forces occupied Iceland. In July 1941, responsibility for Iceland's defense passed to the United States. Following a plebiscite, Iceland formally became an independent republic on June 17, 1944.

			SD -In 1840, the United Kingdom established British sovereignty through the Treaty of Waitangi signed that year with Maori chiefs. Constitutional government began to develop in the 1850s. By the 1890s, parliamentary government along democratic lines was well-established, and New Zealand's social institutions assumed their present form. New Zealand was declared a dominion by a royal proclamation in 1907.

			SD -Mustafa Kemal, celebrated by the Turkish State as a Turkish World War I hero and later known as "Ataturk" or "father of the Turks," led the founding of the Republic of Turkey in 1923 after the collapse of the 600-year-old Ottoman Empire and a three-year war of independence.
			http://www.turkses.com/history/d13.htm -With the announcement of Mustafa Kemal Pasha dated March 19, 1920, the elections were held in the entire country. The preparation of the National Assembly to be gathered in Ankara was completed and the National Assembly was taken up in Ankara on April 23,1920 by the invitation of April 22, 1920. This Assembly of April 23,1920 had also another importance for being composed of the real representatives of the nation. The election of this Assembly based on the national will power in line with the decisions of Erzurum and Sivas congresses, was completed in a short time. Also some members of the Assembly of Deputies in istanbul joined the National Independence war started in Anatolia. Being formed by national will power and named as "the Grand National Assembly of Turkey, this new Assembly started its activities by accepting the decision of "There is no other power above the Grand National Assembly of Turkey." TBMM, which had great historical responsibilities and duties, has chosen Mustafa Kemal Pasha for the Presidency to begin with. With the opening of the Grand National Assembly of Turkey (TBMM) in Ankara on April 23, 1920, a new period started in the history of the Turkish nation and the foundation of a new state was laid in that day.
USSR	1922	1917	CIA -Repeated devastating defeats of the Russian army in World War I led to widespread rioting in the major cities of the Russian Empire and to the overthrow in 1917 of the imperial household. The Communists under Vladimir LENIN seized power soon after and formed the USSR.	Retain Parliament date before Sovereignty date SD- The ruinous effects of World War I, combined with internal pressures, sparked the March 1917 uprising that led Tsar Nicholas II to abdicate the throne. A provisional government came to power, headed by Aleksandr Kerenskiy. On November 7, 1917, the Bolshevik Party, led by Vladimir Lenin, seized control and established the Russian Soviet Federated Socialist Republic.

			http://www.zum.de/whkmla/region/russia/rsfsr.html …..Within the Communist Party (the only legitimate political party in the nation) the CENTRAL COMMITTEE decided on actual political matters; more principal political decisions were to be taken by PARTY CONGRESSES to be held every couple of years. Then there was the PARLIAMENT of the USSR, members of which were DELEGATES rather than elected representatives. Numerous groups of society regarded relevant were represented by delegates (among whom was the Russian Philatelic Society, i.e. the nation's organized stamp collectors, sending one delegate)
