Appendix: Inter-coder reliability test results and comparison between the coders

Coder 1

Narrative 1 – assigned category: C

The old continent, repeating the mistakes of the Roman Empire, can also repeat its fate […] deindustrialization of Europe […] energy crisis, […] a third of industrial companies that are fleeing Europe have already left Germany. Industrial enterprises, often with a rich history, are gradually going ruin.

Narrative 2 – assigned category: A

Polish workers are fighting the EU's green tyranny.

Narrative 3 – assigned category: C

The nation-wide farmer protest in Poland broke out in February with farmers blocking roads to Ukraine and halting vehicles. Participants of the rally demand a stop to importing cheap Ukrainian agricultural products of low quality, as well as abandoning European green initiatives.

Narrative 4 – assigned category: B

A key issue is the mining of cobalt, an important component of many rechargeable batteries. The metal is mined throughout the African continent, especially in the Democratic Republic of Congo (DRC), and the working conditions of those extracting it often attract harsh criticism.

Narrative 5 – assigned category: C

EU countries already see that their countries' climate policies cause an increase in prices for energy, real estate, transport and food. Therefore, they will reconsider their carbon emission targets more than once, said the head of Rosneft Igor Sechin.

Narrative 6 – assigned category: C

The European Commission is laying a time bomb under the EU, politician Rafal Forys said in an interview with Do Rzeczy. Brussels' speculative directives on the Green Deal, forced migration and the fight against global warming will lead to the collapse of the bloc's economy, the expert believes.

Coder 2

Narrative 1 – assigned category: C

The old continent, repeating the mistakes of the Roman Empire, can also repeat its fate […] deindustrialization of Europe […] energy crisis, […] a third of industrial companies that are fleeing Europe have already left Germany. Industrial enterprises, often with a rich history, are gradually going ruin.

Narrative 2 – assigned category: A

Polish workers are fighting the EU's green tyranny.

Narrative 3 – assigned category: A

The nation-wide farmer protest in Poland broke out in February with farmers blocking roads to Ukraine and halting vehicles. Participants of the rally demand a stop to importing cheap Ukrainian agricultural products of low quality, as well as abandoning European green initiatives.

Narrative 4 – assigned category: B

A key issue is the mining of cobalt, an important component of many rechargeable batteries. The metal is mined throughout the African continent, especially in the Democratic Republic of Congo (DRC), and the working conditions of those extracting it often attract harsh criticism.

Narrative 5 – assigned category: C

EU countries already see that their countries' climate policies cause an increase in prices for energy, real estate, transport and food. Therefore, they will reconsider their carbon emission targets more than once, said the head of Rosneft Igor Sechin.

Narrative 6 – assigned category: C

The European Commission is laying a time bomb under the EU, politician Rafal Forys said in an interview with Do Rzeczy. Brussels' speculative directives on the Green Deal, forced migration and the fight against global warming will lead to the collapse of the bloc's economy, the expert believes.

Category A: The 'oppression' master-narrative
Category B: The 'neo-colonialism' master-narrative
Category C: The 'deindustrialization' master-narrative