Abstract

Tables that list the main journals used in the construction of the archaeological atlas.
Keywords: archaeology, atlas, journals

1 Source Journals

The following tables list the journals that have been sourced. It should not be assumed that exhaustive use of the source material has been made. The linguistic shortcomings of the authors limit the information that can be garnered from publications. Also, in browsing for relevant publications it is typically the publication title that determines whether closer examination is made. Journals are clustered based on geographical regions, with Table 9 listing journals with a global scope. In a collection of printed journals with a long history sometimes a volume or two will be missing. For brevity, such instances will not be mentioned.
