I definitely think Republicans are more hypocritical. They talk of family values, for instance, but regularly push policies that hurt families.
user1

I think both no matter whose affiliation, both Democrats and Republicans tend to be hypocitical in some aspect.
user2

I agree. The question though was who is more hypocritical.
user1

But I do agree that Republicans are more hypocritical.
user2

They can't even now decide if Russia is a friend or a foe. Or if Putin is to be believed, when he obviously isn't.
user1

I feel like their conservative views do not always align with thier actions.
user2

Absolutely. Well said. They like the military until General Milley stands up to an out of control president and then they want the general hauled before a committee.
user1