The question is a waste of time.
user1

I'd say Republicans, and one reason is that they claim they are pro-life because they actually care about life but they are also racist and sexist and oppose anything that would actually support people
user2

I agree with you on some point. But the same problems also happens on Democrats.
user1

how so
user2

Both Republicans and Democrats are people. Any person will have this kind of problem. Everyone will not do the things 100% same as what they said.
user1