While I think both are very hypocritical, I think republicans are more hypocritical than democrats. Consider recent current events: republicans claim that they are "pro-life," yet don't pass common sense gun laws to limit massacres from happening on a daily basis in this country.

I believe Republicans are more hypocritical. They pledge to keep our children safe, yet when it comes to real action they are afraid to take one.

I totally agree. It seems they follow the party blindly, rather than think for themself.

I completely agree. Almost every major issue facing the country will affect the future generation. Climate change, gun control, rights for LGBTQ children, and the list goes on are all things that can improve the livelihood of the younger generation yet they take action that will actively harm them.

I think if most Americans who call themselves republicans actually looked at the insidious things that their party does they would be surprised.

Most republican lawmakers don't follow/believe half the things they tout, they just do it because they know it will get them the votes.

OMG! Totally agree! Those ortodocs fanatics of President Trump will NEVER admit to any mistakes. They are very closeminded and not willing to work together. We need more people to bring ideas to the table and look at all possible options.

That's very true, we do need to figure out some middle ground although I believe the two-party system will fail because there is so much division!
