I think both are really hypocritical, I think democrats will look over things they don't like when their party is in power and same with republicans. Its hard to say which side s more hypocritical to be honest user1

Hello! At this time, I would say that Republicans are more hypocritical than Democrats. I am a bit distrustful of politicians in general, but Republicans are running away with it right now.
user2

There is definitely some level of hypocrisy on both sides.
user2

Yeah its really hard to say. I think democrats are really as well like all with the boarder things so many kids detained at the boarder, etc. but you don't hear anything about it because democarts are in power. I lean democrat but just sayin the hypocrisy on both sides is extreme
user1

haha sorry so many typo errors
user1

For me, I just have seen examples of hypocrisy by Republicans that are hard to overlook. For example, Republican Lindsey Graham said that if Trump had the opportunity to nominate a Supreme Court Judge during the election season, then Graham wouldn't support it. However, when Ruth Ginsburg died, Graham helped to push through a Supreme Court pick.
user2

No problem.
user2

Yes, I think the Democrats are hypocritical when it comes to the border in certain aspects.
user2

Some of the policies that the Democrats criticized Trumped for were started under President Obama.
user2

That is true, I feel maybe the hypocrisy being as bad as it is and the divide between the parties has alot to do with Trump and the republicans at least made it worst. I think the huge hate and divide between democrats and republicans mades the hypocrisy worst
user1

That's a good point. I think the animosity between the two parties led to people being more aggressive in how they did things.
user2