Hi
user1

Hi Lizzy how are you
user2

I great and hope you are.
user1

So far so good! still early here in California.
user2

East coast wet and rainy
user1

boo.. hopefully no hurricanes coming your way. Heard its that time of year for you guys. I use to live in Boston years ago
user2

Yeah, fingers crossed.
user1

I think Democrats seem more hypocritical because what we try to accomplish never really seems to happen.
user1

Dems try to do things by the book, while republicans sit the book on fire and do whatever pleases their pockets.
user1

What do you think?
user1

I agree to some degree. I find republicans to be hypocritcal. They often create policy based off the needs of there financial backers and not the people
user2

True, democrats make promises but can't make them happen is the only reason I view us this way.
user1

Republicans make promises right or wrong but they push and put the crooks in place to make it happen.
user1

I am hoping now that Dems have the house that will change in teh next few months especially around gun control.
user2

I agree with you Lizzy!
user2

I hope dems get more control as well, we need people/younger people in office that will do what is right for everyone not just lobbyist.
user1

Agreed we not only need young blood but i want to see new faces. Im tired of seeing old white men all teh time. It doesnt reflect our country at all. we are diverse yet are leaders are all the same.
user2

looks like we will be ending soon. i wish you the best lizzy and hope u can enjoy the rest of the week adn stay dry
user2

You as well
user1