Wow. what a loaded question!

I suspect that I am so in the middle and undecided, I will just start typing in this secure environment and start my ideas flowing

I say that democrats get this correct: TAX corporations. I hate the fact that Amazon dent pay taxes. A corporate loophole
user1

I hate the fact that this company makes billions and billions and doesn't pay their fair share of taxes; while we work to the bone and pay more than our fair share.

Republicans are more hypocritical than Democrats. As an example, when it comes to Covid vaccines Republicans will be against mandates and say, "my body my choice". However those same Republicans will be against abortion where they are against choice and against pro-choice individuals who also chant "my body my choice".

I agree with you about the unfairness of many of the largest corporations paying little or no taxes even when they report huge profits to their shareholders on their financial statements.
user2

OH this is a great point. The same people who say my body my choice when it comes to abortions are the same people who say, believe in science and wear this paper thin mask that in no flipping way is ever going to help you stay safe from a virus that is in the air. The response, well at least I won't die cause I'm triple vaxed and wear a mask if I wasn't I will die
user1

HAHAHAHA
user1

However both parties are at fault because even when Democrats have been in power, no action has been taken to establish some type of corporate minimum income tax based on reported financial statement profits.
user2

So laughable it cracks me up. Let's walk into a restaurant with our little paper mask to walk 5 feet and sit down with this airborne virus and take my mask off cause I am completely safe in this restaurant booth. NEXT, let's place restaurant booths everywhere where covid doesn't exist! PLANES, classrooms, hospitals, churches, then the world won't shut down, we just won't get this virus!!!
