I feel that it's the Republicans who are more hyprocritical.
user1

I agree, they are kind of touchy lately
user2

I say this because they complain about everything the democrats do, for example increased spending/deficit spending, but under Trump the deficit exploded.
user1

what do you think about that?
user1

I think since Trump everyone thinks of him as the representive of "their party". He is what they all are now a days
user2

I disagree though
user2

Yes this is true, they are blindly supporting trump.
user1

I thinks it's unfair, and we need some middle ground when it comes to politics, especially from the republicans.
user1

I think everyone is worried about being woke they have forgoten the point
user2

peace love hope faith
user2