Republicans are more hypocritical
user1

I think both parties are hypocritical, but conservative Republicans are far more heavily so
user2

You know that's a more astute way of putting things. I tend to agree.
user1

I find that Republicans boast about having certain levels of morality, but their agenda often serves a very niche group of people
user2

Both parties say they are going to improve certain things/issues but often don't follow through user1

true
user1

I agree. Politics is unfortunately a lot of theatrics
user2

When I say conservative republicans, I am thinking about those that are adamant about their religious beliefs which preach tolerance and kindness, but they fight against anything resembling equality or improving conditions for all citizens
user2

It is. Both parties make promises when campaigning that don't come to fruition.
user1

It just feels like preaching one thing, but doing another happens significantly more from Republicans.
user2

Agreed.
user1