I feel that Republicans are more hypocritical. They seem to have the attitude that it there way or no way and they are always correct? What do you think?

I would say Republican too (slightly). I vote democrat and am obviously bias when I believe that Republicans are more hypocritical, but I thoroughly acknowledge that democratic politicians can absolutely be hypocritical

I also recognize that I seek out "confirmation bias". So I vote left, so I want to confirm that those that vote right are "hypocrites"

Any specific examples of Republican hypocrisy that you think are strong examples?

If you look at Donald Trump he is a perfect example. He is critical to anyone that does not think the same exact way as him. If you go against him you are automatically wrong and he will be little you and call you names.
