Republicans. I have seen them say certain things that they stand for and then later on disapprove of it.
user1

Things such as stimulus checks is an example.
user1

I think we are all hypocritical to a certain extent. Itâ€™s hard to live up to your words in your actions 100 percent of the time. I do find this to be more true of Republicans.
user2

I also agree with that statement
user1

Republicans still act like they care about family values, but donâ€™t help families climb out of poverty.
user2