I think Republicans are typically more hypocritical
user1

Hey, how are you? I definitely think Republicans are more hypocritical.
user2

Agree. They seem to flip flop on issues.
user2

You think about their stance on healthcare and abortions and that sort of mentality of my body my choice but then they are against people's choices in those situations
user1

Like during the State of the Union last night, they were cheering Biden's police funding talk, even though he put it in the context of no search warrants
user2

Yeah the definitely flip flop a lot
user1

Yep... Agree.
user2

They scream about personal freedoms but don't want to see real examples of it like abortion or flag burning
user2

And they talk patriotism and then destabilize democracy in their own country
user2

Look at the election results and how they openly embraced overthrowing governments and stuff
user1

They were applauding free prescriptions and such last night too as Biden bashed the drug companies, but yet they also want capitalism to rule.
user2

True true
user1

Exactly. They wanted to trash election results in the name of saving democracy. lol
user2

They always seem to showcase that anger only when things start to affect them but if it's others then it's hey that's the consequences deal with it
