I think Republicans are more hypocritical. That isn't to say that Democrats aren't or can't be. The problem with Republicans are they claim to be pro life but when something actually happens they are the opposite.
user1

Hmm, that is a tough one. I feel as though there are more hypocritical democrats than republicans. Both are full of shit but republicans don't hide their beliefs as well.
user2

Democrats usually try to show they care but I feel like it is much more of a show, and they would turn their backs easily to some people needing help.
user2

Fair assessment. Take the current situation with abortions and mass shootings. Republicans are anti life or so it seems by taking away abortions and allowing mass shootings. Democrats on the other hand tend to care but then want funds out of it and get nowhere. Would you agree?
user1

I agree with the pro life, republican argument. Aren't republicans usually for the death penalty?
user2

I agree.
user2

That they are but of course they don't hide it either. I am not sure what would be more hypocritical to be openly a hypocrite or to lie about it.
user1

True. I rather they be open about it so its easier to know who people are. But feels to me that hiding it, denying it is more hyprocritical.
user2

Maybe we have all just fallen for party lines on both sides. It is true at least a Republican will tell you what they are thinking instead of being in the shadows. This is from a Democrat.
user1

Another quick example I could think of is Trump wanting to build a wall to block Mexico but also hires so many illegal mexicans throughout all his businesses.
user2