I feel republicans are more hypocritical. They seem to judge democrats on everything. Everytime anything goes wrong, they immediately blame it on the democrats.
user1

Hello! I think Republicans are definitely more favorable. Their views on life contradict each other, for example. They are pro-life and try to force other people from having abortions, saying abortions kill people, but then so many of them are pro-death penalty. The death penalty kills fully formed humans, some of whom may even be innocent of the crimes they were tried for!
user2

Sorry, I meant more hypocritical, not more favorable.
user2

I agree. I don't necessarily believe in abortions, but I think there are times when it should be allowed.
user1

NOt sure how you can be against abortions but be for the death penalty. It contradicts itself.
user1

And they were so hypocritical when Obama was president and they refused to allow Scalia's Supreme Court seat to be filled by Merrick Garland even though he was really qualfied but they rushed to let Ginsberg's seat be filled by a Republican.
user2

Yes, I definitely agree about that. Death is death.
user2

Of course they filled Ginsberg's seat with a Republican. And you are right, they were critical of everything that Obama did.
user1

And even after Ginsberg apparently said it was her dying wish for the seat to be filled after the election.
user2