I think both sides can sometimes appear hypocritical.
user1

I also think this it can go both ways depending on what is being disscussed
user2

I think it mostly comes down to how much money somebody has and if the issue effects them or not
user2

Definitely no clear"winner" on this one. It depends on how it's reported and who's doing the reporting.
user1

Money definitely has a role.
user1

I think a big thing I always see is people who are more well off look past issues that are clearly problems and write them off no matter the party
user2