I believe both Democrats and Republicans are both equally hypocritical.

All politicians are alike.

They can't be trusted most of the times.

I think Republicans are more hypocritical than Democrats because Republicans often make judgements about personal values and personal lives and then are caught violating those same positions when it comes to their personal lives. For example, Republicans are against abortion but there are many cases of Republicans being caught paying for abortions for mistresses.

I agree that both Democrats and Republicans can be hypocritical though.

I guess it just seems like Republicans set themselves up to be hypocritical more often because they take stands against so many different things like gay marriage, marijuanna, abortion, etc
