I personally think both Democrats and Republicans are hypocritical. On one side, you have a party that preaches personal freedom yet tries to take them away from the minority, on the other side, you ahve a party who preaches change yet doesn't enact any.
user1

I think both parties can be hypocritical, it just depends. Though, I do see a lot of conservative voters on the news and social media in general often contradict themselves, or share conflicting viewpoints.
user2

Ha, sounds like we both agree
user1

I think it's not necessarily what party someone is in, but more about how educated they are on a topic in general, if that makes sense.
user2

I would say that you are right though
user1

That many times, conservatives will dig themselves into a hole
user1

Yes! Education plays a big factor in it.
user1

Also, being humble enough to admit when you're are wrong and admitting that.
user1