THis is a hard one, as both sides have both very sincere members and bvery hypocritical ones.

I was just thinking the same thing.
user2

I'm tempted, though, to pick Republicans...
user2

My inclination is to say Republicans, but then I know a lot of democrats who talk about how republicans don't listen but then they refuse to even consider republican arguments
user1

I think democrat hypocrisy hurts more...
user1

Republicans place very high standards on themselves and others, so they're more likely to not meet those standards and then come off as, or be, hypocrites.
user2

I agree with you about "not listening." Why would democrat hypocrisy hurt more, in your opinion?
user2

In general democrats tend to talk about ideals, so when they are hyprocrits it hurts the validity of their ideals as well
