I think Republicans are more hypocritical and their "pro life" movement is a good example. They only seem to be "pro life" when it is a fetus but once a person exists in the outside world, they are unwilling to spend the resources necessary to help people who are less fortunate through policy change
user1

I would say the republicans. Lets start with how much they claim they are with Donald Trump on everything especially regarding the loss of the 2020 election to Biden.
user2

behind the scene, we all know they Trump lost the election and he lied by saying it was fraud
user2

Yes that too. They get very upset when democrats say or do something questionable but when a republican does something similar they turn away
user1

Everyone is politics seems hypocritical to a certain extent. Its how they get the votes
user1

exactly, I'm very furious with the Minority leader Kevin McCarthy acting like what Trump did was right in supporting the gathering of his supporters only to be caught on phone stating that he was angry
user2

sometimes even when they are caught, they lie until you play a tape with their voice on record disagreeing with what they say publicly is true
user2

Its how they keep their base so no way it goes away anytime soon.
user1

Again I will say they are hypocrites when they stopped Obama from appointing a supreme court justice after the death of Justice Scalia stating they have to wait after election
user2

Thats another very good example
user1

Im glad we agree lol
user1

Yes, they never did that with the replacement of Ginsburg after her death
user2