I think Republicans are more hypocritical

I honestly think both sides can be hypocritical depending on what the topic is

A perfect example is the Supreme Court nomination from Obama, where the Senate Republicans refused to hear the nomination of Garland because it was in an election year, but then consider the nomination of Amy Barrett a month before the general election

But the Democrats also have their own hypocritical moments; I just think the Republican moments are more salient yeah that is a good point I would have to agree. Both sides have their moments, but I would be lying if I didn't admit that I feel the republic at moments are often more aggressive and sometimes without regard to consequence. Unfortunately we can see this with their opinions on abortion law and gun regulation.

They do seem to be bullish, attempting to gain political capital without regard to the outcome. The GOP is out of step with the majority opinion of the country on those two issues; more people than not support abortion access, and there is a high level of support for gun regulation in one capacity or another
