i think republicans are more hpocrtiical
user1

same
user2

and I don't think they care if people realize it either
user2

i find they just do whatever they need to stay in power
user1

they'll say we need to respect whoever (cops, troops, etc.) but actively say and push policies that hurt those people
user2

they have often flip flopped on many issues if the popular candidate of the party says so
user1

they whine about the debt under democrat presidents but they do the same thing when their party is in power
user1

there's nothing stopping them because voters will just vote along party lines
user2

and they know it too
user2

i agree
user1

im not sure what that party stands for anymore
user1