I don't know if I can completely say one is to blame more than the other
user1

For me answer is obvious: Republicans are SUPER hypocritical.
user2

In recent events that have taken place, I can agree to that
user1

Most US citizens want gun control restriction, but GOP blocked any attempt.
user2

Yes, I believe it's between 80-90%
user1

Yet nothing happens
user1

They position themselves as PRO life but actually they are pro GUN only
user2

Yes, I do agree, that is very hypocritical
user1

NRA bought all of GOP Senators.
user2

Yep
user1

This is total shame. They are dangerous as hell.
user2

Yeah, something needs to be done
user1

Stricter gun laws across the board for sure
user1

Another issue is abortion. They are pro life only for fetus. But lives of real people for them is nothing.
user2

I agree
user1

But at the same time, the Democrats need to start speaking up more
user1

Senate currently is a huge obstacle.
user2

Yes
user1

Yes, but speaking gives a little result. We need vote all republicans out from all level.
user2

That's not as easy as it sounds though
user1

We need to register all citizen and convince them all vote for Democrats.
user2

I know but we should try at least.
user2

Yeah, we should
user1

Situation is terrible from my point of view.
user2

Absolutely... and nothing ever gets done to fix it
user1

We can't lost Senate and House this November.
user2

Yep. We need change
user1

It was great to chat with you. Thank you!
user2