That's a really tough question because both parties can be hypocritical at times.
user1

As a democrat myself I don't like putting down my own party, but if I'm being really honest I would have to say that democrats can be just a little more hypocritical than republicans.
user1

I think that both sides are equally as hypocritical. Republicans claim to value freedom and family, and yet, they want to restrict the rights of certain people. "Freedom for thee, not for me". Democrats are also hypocritical, though. Reason being...
user2

Yeah but if we have to pick just one.
user1

They claim to want people to express themselves freely, and yet, they want to silence those who oppose them.
user2

I actually agree - I think Democrats are slightly more hypocritical.
user2