I think Republicans are more hypocritical.
user1

Mostly comes from the topic I been following
user1

Most politicians look for their interest and follow their values but the Republicans are just on another level
user2

it seems like that are delusional in their thought process
user2

I agree
user1

Look at their pro life on abortion
user1

like the Climate Change they think it is not real even though the facts are here
user2

yet they dont want to help supply the baby food
user1

agree with that also
user1

we have seen a drastic change in the climate but they do not want to do anything about it
user2

Another thing is the gun law debate
user1

they do not want to help anyone because think that everyone is out to get them
user2

yes they need to open their eyes i mean just this year look at all the shootings
user2

i mean we are not asking them to take the constitutional right away, we are asking them to just do a thorough background check but they just can not understand that
user2

Yes
user1

Personally I felt the US went downhill wiht Trump
user1

i mean why not? what is the harm in thoroughly checking the background?
user2

Failing to acknowledge covid as a problem early on
user1

kept saying it wasnt that bad
user1

then it comes in like a disaster
user1

That clown has divided this country, before people were racist but they just did not say thing openly but after Trump they came out and just said and did things which were unacceptable for thr society
user2

they knew even before and if they could have been proactive we would not be here today
user2

I agree on that point
user1