Hello
user1

Hi there
user2

I feel both Democrats and Republicans are hypocritical to be honest
user2

True, i agree
user1

the republican hypocrisy is more likely to anger me (like the whole deal with supreme court nominations, can't discuss merrick garland, but we can confirm barrett)
user1

However, when it comes to important issues I would have to say Republicans may be worse
user2

Gun control is what angers me
user2

yes, exactly. I feel like it is a feature for them, not a bug. They aren't serious when they give rationales
user1

i suspect they are often communicating something very different to their supporters than they appear to be saying on the surface
user1

Gun control, yeah, I can't believe people against gun control are still saying "Welp, nothing we can do, bad things happen."
user1

Yeah seriously
user2

90 percent of people support background checks
user2

Why should a civilian need an AR 15
user2

People who genuinely believe in responsible gun ownership should be supporting ways to reduce gun violence
user1

owning an AR15 isn't responsible
user1

They hide behind the 2nd amendment
user2

Reasonable laws are not an infringement on law abiding citizens
user2

exactly
user1

the old saw "what if only criminals have guns" is another "nothing we can do" excuse.
user1

they could do something if they wanted. they don't
user1

I'm so tired of that excuse
user2