Democrats tend to promise a lot, and under deliver. While republicans tend to lie more.
user2

YES I LIKE THIS
user1

An example of this to me would be Biden and how he is handling student debt right now. I believe he was supposed to help relieve some debt for students like me.
user2

But this was overlooked after he became president.
user2

And a lot of the time he goes on the news and flaunts about the achievements hes making, but I feel my expenses in all walks of life are only going up.
user2

The only thing that you are wrong about is saying ain't. But I shouldn't talk because when people on quora disagree with me they always comment about my shitty spelling. But I to think Biden is not doing a good job. Everything is going up in price, crime is out of control, we have open borders so whoever wants to come here nows the time. No vetting no background checks if you're looking for work or if you have a long criminal history or even a terrorist you're welcome on the Biden Harris open borders policy. One more thing can you believe that since the crime is getting so out of control especially in the democratic run inner cities they are blaming the Republicans for defunding the police. Was I asleep last year because I thought that was the democrats theme line during the George Floyd riots. AOC in the front of the defund the police line. You got to give them this they say that with a straight face.
user1

Republicans, on the other hand, will just fragrantly lie
user2

No, you are exactly right. Joe Biden is a total failure and heâ€™s not mentally fit to be President.
user1

I agree prices are getting out of hand
user2

No you are not wrong, Biden is a terrible President.
user1

I thought with wages going up it was going to be easier, but the american dream of owning a house is falling fast.
user2

No, I think you are 100% correct. That should be obvious to anybody who can see things clearly. This president is a total idiot beyond description.
