I think both parties can be hypocritical when they are in and out of power
user1

sure both can be, but who is MORE hypocritical is definitely republicans
user2

I agree there is a level of morality and standards which those in the Democratic Party can be counted on to uphold
user1

yeah I agree with that
user2

I cant say the same for a good deal of republicans In office
user1

republicans more often than democrats seem to take positions that benefit them at the time, even if it contradicts what they have said in the past
user2

yeah they definitely have this pursuit of power thing which allows them to just do anything if its beneficial at the time
user1

I think if Mitch mcconnel and the Supreme Court thing
user1

*of
user1

yeah exactly, I can also think of lindsay graham and how he was vehemently opposed to Donald Trump as a candidate, until trump got elected and then he 180'd and supported him
user2

oh yeah hes went back and forth a few times now I think lol
user1

lol definitely
user2